Lyman C. Hunt, who has been engaged as the principal of the People's academy at Morrisville, arrived in the city yesterday to attend the commencement exercises of the graduating class of Spaulding high school, which is to receive the diplomas this evening. On the site of a flower bed which he was preparing in front of his residence at 139 Brook street, Victor Stacy, while digging yesterday, uncovered a gold watch. The timepiece was in excellent condition, although it had long since ceased to record the flight of time. While speculating over the circumstances which led up to the interment of the watch on his premises, Mr. Stacy suddenly remembered that a timepiece of undoubted value was lost by the late David Jamieson around 10 years ago. At that time he was grading the lawn for Mr. Stacy and when he reported the loss of the watch there ensued a search which did not end until the soil had been harrowed and well nigh sifted. The watch was not disclosed. After satisfying himself that the timepiece was the property of the late Mr. Jamieson, he turned it over to Mrs. Jamieson. The latter, after learning the story of the find, presented the watch to Mr. Stacy as a keepsake.

Directors of the Barre Quarriers & Manufacturers' association were entertained at J. M. Boutwell's camp near Northfield today. The outing started this morning with the departure of the pleniters in automobiles. A number went to the camp last evening to complete preparations for the affair, among them being Signor J. Cappio, who assumed the role of chef. Meat was taboo, but a shore dinner of much girth was substituted at noon. This afternoon a program of field sports was supposed to be in progress. Those who made up the party are: J. M. Boutwell, James K. Pirie, E. J. Bateholder, John A. Cross of Northfield, A. L. Gale and B. F. Sawin of Chicago and D. J. MacNichol of Boston, representing the Critchfield advertising agency. E. V. Alley of Boston, representing the Curtis Publishing Co., George Straiton, S. Hollister Jackson, James T. Marrion, William Barclay, John G. McLeod, H. J. M. Jones and H. P. Hinman.

There was a light touch of frost in Barre and nearby towns this morning, but the freeze did not attain the severity which marked yesterday's cold spell. Much that might have been damaged by the second frost of the season was ruined yesterday. Reports of great damage resulting from yesterday's frost continue to come in, and yet there are instances where the frost wave passed over a garden without any harmful results. Ranges' field on Berlin street, where many war gardens have been planted by the Italian colony, came through with colors flying. At the Emslie greenhouses on the Montpelier road, much of the more valuable vegetation was under glass and the proprietor escaped heavy loss.
